

How to Get Happily Published

A workshop jointly sponsored by ALAO's
Bibliographic Instruction Interest Group and
Research and Publications Committee

September 22, 1995
Inn at Honey Run, Millersburg, OH
9:00am - 5:00pm
(Continental Breakfast and Lunch Provided)

Stressed out by "publish or perish?" Relax with us in scenic Millersburg, the heart of Holmes County Amish Country, as we step back to address the practical aspects of the publication process for academic librarians from the perspectives of those who have published, as well as those editors who receive manuscripts for consideration.

Presenters:

Library Research Trends: Fred Jenkins, University of Dayton
My Publication Experiences: Hannelore Rader, Cleveland State University
An Editor's Perspective: Barbara Wittkopf, Editor of Research Strategies
Electronic Publishing: Leslie Hass, Kent State University

Cost: $55 ALAO and/or OCLIS members
$67 Non-members (includes one year membership in ALAO)

Requested: Casual attire

Comfortable walking shoes (to walk the trails after lunch)
A feather foot on the gas pedal--Amish buggies on the road
Car pools if possible. This will be fall foliage time: the Inn is trying to minimize congestion on narrow roads. Inn parking is free.
