The Future of Ohio Libraries

Establishing & Maintaining an eReader Collection

Sue Polanka, Wright State

Approximately 15-17% of academic and school libraries are lending eReaders to their patrons. There are a variety of ways to establish this service in a library. During this session, the nuts and bolts of establishing and maintaining an eReader collection will be discussed and demonstrated. Device selection, collection development, purchasing, policies and procedures, and budgeting will be discussed and debated.

Managing eBooks for Kids

Kathy Yoder, Bowling Green State University

As academic libraries grapple with presenting electronic content to their patrons, curriculum materials centers also want to serve pre-service teachers with children's eBooks from a variety of publishers. In this session we will take a look at what we want and need from an eBook platform: MARC records, unlimited access, affordability and more. Guest Lindsey Newman will demonstrate one such product, Mackin VIA, and Kathy Yoder will share her search for a children's portal that meets the needs of an academic setting.

PreK-12 eTextbooks in Ohio CMCs

Ann Raney, University of Dayton

With the release of the new "Digital Textbook Playbook" by the Federal Communications Commission and the U.S. Department of Education to help advance the federal governments initiative to bring digital textbooks to all American students within the next five years, it is imperative that our collections begin the transition from print to digital format. During this session, PreK-12 textbook reps will share their digital textbook options.

The State of Ohio's Libraries

Beverly Cain, State Library of Ohio

Ohio's school libraries are at a crossroads. State Librarian Cain will share information that has been gathered about them by the Working Together to Support Ohio's Libraries Committee.
